Open Eco Homes

Take a peek inside some of Cambridge’s most environmentally friendly homes at Open Eco Homes, a community-led project presented by Cambridge Carbon Footprint. Taking place on both 15th and 24th September, this event gives you the opportunity to explore comfortable, beautiful low-energy homes and talk to their owners about living energy efficiently. The idea aims to offer inspiration and practical advice to help demonstate that being green can mean more than you might think. You’ll be able to find out the pros and cons of various renewable energy technologies, insulation measures and heating systems, as well as asking any questions you might have. It’s an indoor outdoor event and you’ll get to chat to regular people, rather than being given sales talk, to help you make your home more comfortable, affordable and carbon ready for the panel.

The Regeneration of CBT
A future business hub for Cambridge

Cambridge has been identified as a key growth area for business and innovation, taking advantage of the region’s strong research base. The site is at the heart of the new CB1 development, which is set to transform the area. CBT is the future business hub of Cambridge, providing a mix of office, retail and leisure spaces. The site is currently developing, with Phase 1 completed and Phase 2 under construction. The site is expected to be completed by 2025.

IT’S ALL ABOUT TIMING. SORT OF...

Sam Cooke, partner at local estate agents Cordis & Co., suggests rethinking the expected timeline of the real estate market: "Timeliness is not just a matter of selling a property in a short period of time, but the most important factor in determining the value of a property. Waiting too long to sell can result in a loss of value, while selling too quickly can result in a loss of potential profit."
